Missing boater search continues

By RICH ADAMS

The search continued Saturday for a Pkayune man missing, since last Sunday after his companion was found dead in the Louisiana marshes of St. Bernard Parish lashed to a submerged pleasure boat in which the pair had left Hancock County on a fishing trip.

A combined search by the Hancock County Civil Defense Department, the U. S. Coast Guard, private pilots, and professional divers resulted in sighting and recovery Friday of the body of 31-year-old Sally Herrin of Pkayune, according to Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr.

Officials are still searching for 57-year-old Frank Frierson, also of Pkayune.

District Attorney Albert Nicaise has been informed of the recovery of Ms. Herrin's body, the sheriff reported.

Civil Defense Director Robert Boudin said last week the couple had left Bordages Fishing Camp on Bayou Cadet in Lakeshore Saturday, Oct. 10 aboard the 26-foot fiberglass pleasure boat "My Desire."

When they failed to return Sunday, Boudin ordered a search for the boat, which was fruitless until Friday.

On Friday at approximately 4 p.m. a Coast Guard helicopter from New Orleans flown by Commander Paul D. Russell and four crewmen spotted a floating cushion, wooden handle net, and fruit on the water some two miles north-northeast of Martin Island in the Louisiana marshes of St. Bernard Parish, according to Ladner.

Closer inspection by the helicopter crew revealed the woman's body in the water.

A rope attached to the sunken fiberglass boat was wrapped twice around the body, the sheriff reported.

Sheriff Ladner said the Coast Guardsmen retrieved the body and transported it to Stennis Airport in Hancock County.

"A rope encircled her and was tied to the boat sitting at the bottom of the water. She was wearing a life jacket," Ladner said Saturday.

The body was taken to Gulfport Memorial Hospital for an autopsy.

Ladner said Coast Guard and Civil Defense units along with several professional divers from Pass Christian and Gulfport are searching for Frierson.

The divers reported close inspection of the sunken boat Saturday revealed no sign of Frierson, nor any indication of damage to the boat other than a broken windshield, the sheriff said.

The sheriff said also missing is an aluminum hull which was being towed behind the larger boat for fishing in shallows.

The incident remains under investigation by the Hancock County and St. Bernard Parish Sheriff's Departments.

The missing man is a first cousin of Judge Oscar Frierson of Waveland and brother of W. C. Frierson, also of Waveland.

Judge Frierson served as acting coroner Friday after Ms. Herrin's body was found in the absence of Hancock County Coroner Carl Banderet who is out of the county on vacation, according to the sheriff.

One killed in mishap

By RICH ADAMS

A former Waveland resident died Friday night in a fiery one-car accident on Blue Meadow Road in Bay St. Louis after apparently failing to negotiate a curve at a high rate of speed.

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Douglas Williams reported Glenn Gregoire, 27, Chalmette La., was apparently traveling at an "uncontrollable speed" Friday night at 7:50 p.m. when he lost control of his 1970 Chrysler south of Joe's Bayou Road.

The car severed several pine trees and a chain link fence after leaving the road, Williams reported.

Bay police arrived on the scene to find the automobile upside-down and engulfed in flames in a ditch parallel to the northbound lane of the road.

The Bay St. Louis Fire Department was able to control the flames, the chief reported.

Gregoire's charred body was resting on the passenger side of the car, Williams added.

"Apparently the victim was traveling north at an uncontrollable speed, failed to make the turn and left the road, turned over and burned," the chief said.

The body was taken to Edmond Fahey Funeral Home and later transferred to Chalmette for funeral arrangements there, Williams said.

Gregoire is survived by his wife, Mary, 27; three daughters, Mary Ann, 7, Taryn, 4, and Christine, two months, all of Waveland; his mother, Gloria Gregoire; and five brothers, all of Chalmette.

Gregoire had resided in Waveland some four years before recently returning to Chalmette.

In addition to the Bay St. Louis Police and Fire Departments, the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, Waveland Police and Fire Departments, Mississippi Highway Patrol, East Hancock Fire Department, and Mobile Medic were at the scene.

North Bay popcorn sale draws PTO objections

By RICH ADAMS

Conflict has arisen between North Bay Elementary School administrators and the Parent-Teacher Organization concerning a fund-raising popcorn sale reportedly sponsored by the teachers at the school to purchase instructional materials.

According to North Bay Principal Billy Sills, a salesman from Princeton Industries approached him last week requesting teachers be allowed to sell popcorn to purchase educational supplies.

Sills said last year the teachers had complained the sales took too much time, and the principal told the salesman, Joe Jenkins of Gulfport, to take care of the notes to parents himself.

Sills said the teachers then decided to become involved in the project and support the popcorn sales.

Unsigned notes were allegedly sent to parents asking for their help and support in the matter, and PTO President Lana Noonan said Friday sending children "out on the streets in order to purchase budgeted items" is wrong.

Sills explained Friday the drive will "probably have to be discontinued" because he cannot get in contact with Jenkins.

Sills claims, however, that the PTO is objecting to the sale because "they want to run the school."

"The teachers want to take a little initiative and purchase some needed supplies, and the PTO wants to run the school," Sills said Friday.

"The PTO doesn't run the school—I do," the principal added.

Noonan said she recently received a note, but explained the note was unsigned.

"I assumed the note was from the front office," Noonan said Friday. "Mainly, I do not like unsigned notes because I do not know who to call for information and it is much easier for nobody to take responsibility," she added.

The note asked parents to assist in the fund raising "because we do not encourage school children to solicit door-to-door."

A second note on the company's letterhead says, "Help us raise the much needed money to buy instructional and playground materials."

The PTO president said she believes the items to be purchased with the proceeds of the sale, which Sills said will be wall clocks and workbooks, should be covered in budgeted expenses authorized by the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board.

"Mr. Sills told me the money would be used to buy a new ditto machine, paper, and fluid. The school budget has been amended many times for other items, and I think these are budgetary items," Noonan said.

"The ironic part to me was when I walked into the office and saw the popcorn salesman sorting out notes that looked like they may have been done on our ditto machine—I certainly hope I

Highway commissioner recount possible here

By RICH ADAMS

Hancock County Circuit Court Clerk Henry Otis said Friday he was instructed several weeks ago to secure ballot boxes from the Aug. 7 primary election and prepare for possible election contention in the Southern District highway commissioner race.

Incumbent W.H. (Shag) Pyron is complaining that voting irregularities occurred during the primary election as he was narrowly defeated by a five-vote margin by Waynesboro Mayor Robert Joiner.

"All counties were notified by one side or the other, but we have not heard any more about it," Otis said Friday. A special court in Hattiesburg Wednesday voided votes in six Forrest County boxes from the primary election on grounds that precinct officials failed to initial ballots as required by state law.

The State Democratic Executive Committee had certified Joiner the winner over Pyron, and later refused a request by Pyron to overturn its earlier certification and declare him the winner or order a new election.

Pyron then obtained an order from Chancellor Frank Walden of Natchez blocking the secretary of state from printing general election ballots for the commissioner's race and Joiner appealed to the State Supreme Court.

The high court last month named Kosciusko Chancellor John Love Jr. to hear challenges in the case.

Love voided 830 votes for Pyron and 575 Joiner votes in the six Forrest County boxes.

Double murder suspect nabbed

By RICH ADAMS

Only days after sending postcards from Florida to Gulfport Mayor Jack Barnett and a New Jersey prison guard, suspected double-murderer Kenneth William Wheat was arrested in Orlando Friday on shoplifting charges.

Wheat has been indicted by the Harrison County Grand Jury for the July double murder of a newlywed couple from Kentucky whose bodies were found in a secluded, wooded area north of Pass Christian in the Dedeaux Community.

A spokesman for the Harrison County Sheriff's Department said Saturday she has received no information as to whether Wheat will waive extradition and return to Mississippi for trial on the murder charges.

Harrison County deputies are expected to travel to Orlando Monday where Wheat is slated to appear in court for shoplifting charges.

The Harrison County grand jury indicted Wheat on a capital murder charge in connection with the July 30 deaths of Joseph Mayer, 24, Paducah, Ky., and his 21-year-old wife, Teresa, who were honeymooning on the Gulf Coast.

The suspect sent a postcard to Gulfport Mayor Jack Barnett last week from Miami, saying, "I hear your (sic) looking for me. Ask the CIA. They know. So does the Secret Service. Kenneth Wheat."

The card was postmarked Oct. 13. Harrison County Sheriff Howard L. Hobbs said county authorities were notified by New Jersey state police that a guard at the New Jersey State Prison where Wheat had served 17 years

School head lice problem subsides

Waveland Elementary School Principal James Baldree said Friday a head lice problem which resulted in a picket line of parents on school grounds last week is tapering off.

Baldree said no new cases of the parasite have been discovered since Monday, and he believes the worst of the so-called epidemic is passed.

"We have had no new cases since Monday, and it appears the problem is tapering off," Baldree said Friday.

"We had 11 or 12 parents involved in (the picket line), and they have found out they can work things out by working with the administration," he added.

"All the parents were very cooperative and we appreciate that. All along we have tried to work with the

CITIZEN DISCONTENT—Bay St. Louis property owners and businessmen crowded a joint City Council-Planning and Zoning Commission meeting Thursday to protest discrepancies on a proposed new city zoning map. Councilmen and commissioners assured the citizens no zoning changes can be effected through adoption of a map. The council also approved commission recommendations to seek a change of the US-90 speed limit to 40 miles per hour in city limits, and a change of zoning from I2 (heavy industrial) to I1 (light industrial) on a parcel surrounding the LAN Depot. A moratorium on I2 building permits in the zone was established until the change can be effected. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Birthday celebrated on Highland

Friends and neighbors of John McKenna gathered Sunday last for a Happy Hour celebration honoring McKenna on the occasion of his birthday.

The festival was held on the lawn and in the patio of the Joe Pilot home on Highway Drive.

While running up the cocktail flag that signaled the opening of the gala occasion, McKenna acknowledged that he was "thirty seven and going on thirty eight."

During a magic show, McKenna succeeded in accurately pinning the tail on the rabbit—thus turning the animal into a donkey.

He received an Achievement Award Scroll duly signed by Knights of Fallstaff and their ladies and a grand prize for accuracy, a Spooky Woodstock original. J.C. Rabbit centered the refreshment table holding a placard "Long Live McKenna."

A miniature train set decorated the cake and suitable gifts of toys were opened by the honoree.

The earlier, the better!

Each year at this time there is a tendency for everyone to rush to the cemeteries of the area in preparation of All Saints Day.

Those who do their job early are very much appreciated by the officials who have to remove the massive amounts of trash which accumulates when the graves are cleaned.

For many years, we have observed Cedar Rest Cemetery, as it was bordering our former offices on Second Street. On the morning of All Saints, all of the trash piles would have been removed the night before by the city of Bay St. Louis. Before 9 a.m., it would take several loads to remove the amount of trash which would develop on All Saints morning, making it look like the City hadn't been keeping up.

We feel it is a fine practice for celebrating All Saints Day because it at least gives some folks a reason for caring for their dead on a specific day.

We hope everyone will try this year to clean the graves of their loved ones a few days before Nov. 1st.

The cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland have been working for some time in preparation for All Saints, as well as the Board of Supervisors in the County.

Our cooperation would be appreciated by many.

Candid Answers To Your Questions
About Advertising and Business Topics.

By S. GALE DENLEY
Associate Professor of Journalism
University of Mississippi

If the public notices are published for the good of the public, why are they put in such small print? It looks like they are trying to hide something. My eyes are weak.

Dear Mr. Denley: They may very well be trying to hide something, but the size of the type is a cost consideration of the newspaper that also saves you money.

The rate for legal ads is set by law in most jurisdictions, but size is usually not.

Therefore newspapers sometime use smaller type in order to get more notices in less space than would be possible with their regular type.

Enough do this to keep down the rate. If larger type was used the rate would be higher, because newspapers sell space regardless of the particular increment that is used to express the rate.

And if the rate for legal ads too far behind that charged for other ads, publishers will organize to seek a new price ceiling.

The small type doesn't indicate an effort to hide anything for it may also be used for such items as market reports, classified ads and vital statistics—the most popular items for many readers. Again the small type is a compromise between readability and cost.

The Mississippi legislature has in at least one instance regulated the size of type, stating that in public notices of applications for permits issued by the Alcohol Beverage Control the notice must be in 10 pt. bold face type.

Several years ago one of the agencies regulating the publication of a bank's balance sheet, set a minimum size for the type. However the rule has been rescinded.

But back to your question—I agree. If the ads were in bigger type they would be easier to read and would be more wisely read. However, the cost would be much higher.

It's the same dilemma of any advertiser caught between size of ads and cost. With size comes more response and more cost.

But the flexibility of the medium does make it possible to have a choice. And you can always get stronger glasses and a brighter reading light.

MISSISSIPPI ECONOMIC COUNCIL -
THE STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Reports concerning the state sales tax and income tax structures will be considered by the Mississippi Economic Council's General Committee on Taxation when it convenes Tuesday in Jackson.

General Committee Chairman Rhyme Neubert, a Jackson CPA, said the committee will consider materials relating to the work and recommendations coming from two special committees - Sales Tax, chaired by Milton Sparrow, a Jackson CPA, and State Income Tax, chaired by Meridian banker Austin James.

"If the reports and recommendations are approved by the general committee," commented Neubert, "they will be forwarded to the MEC Board of Directors for consideration at the November Board meeting."

The Income Tax Committee's work has centered around the state's laws and the U.S. Internal Revenue Code. "We looked at steps for conforming state income tax laws to the IRS Code," he said, "and we looked at regulations governing the taxation of multi-state businesses and consolidation of returns of affiliated corporations."

The Sales Tax Committee's assignment was to study the structure of Mississippi's sales tax system and compare it with others. "We considered our sales tax structure and its use in state government finance and compared it with the structure and use of similar taxes in surrounding states," said Sparrow.

"Revenue from the state's income tax and sales tax represent from 70 to 75 percent of the monies generated to finance state government through the general fund," said Neubert.

"Results of both of these reports should be of vital concern to the future of Mississippi."

Energy Decisions In The Public's Interest

by DAVID COHEN

Will Congress untangle the government red tape which has often prevented completion of needed energy projects? It does, will Congress ride roughshod over basic democratic safeguards?

During October Congress will wrestle with these questions. At the root of it all is whether we can supply our energy needs without sacrificing democratic procedures, including participation by the citizens affected by energy policies. Everyone agrees that this is a necessary goal; it's in the specifics that we see the forces of American politics at work, including powerful vested interests.

Congress is about to create an Energy Mobilization Board (EMB). The unanswered question is, what will the Board's powers be? As originally proposed, it would accelerate development of new energy sources by placing certain energy projects on a regulatory "fast track." What this means is that the EMB would have the power to designate certain non-nuclear priority projects, such as a pipeline, a solar tower or a dam, as critical to the nation's energy goals. For those projects the Board would establish a timetable for federal, state and local agencies to follow in the approval process for a particular project.

This all makes good sense. We should streamline the regulatory process for key energy projects by consolidating hearings, reducing paperwork, shortening deadlines. That is the easy part. But then the vested interests move in. In the name of streamlining actions they maneuver to attack the basic processes that are designed to protect the public. We must guard against giving the EMB such broad authority that its power would endanger long established democratic safeguards. For example, the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee approved an Energy Mobilization Board which could waive substantive laws such as the Clean Air Act and other environmental and health legislation. Such authority negates the concept of democratic responsibility if an unselected

Board can overturn laws which Congress has passed. If it's necessary to change or repeal a law in order to meet the nation's energy needs, our elected representatives should make the change through regular procedures and take responsibility for their actions.

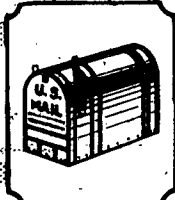

Can you imagine a powerful EMB making critical energy decisions that isn't subject to basic accountability measures? Yet, some in Congress are proposing to exempt members of the Board from these safeguards. Citizens must be assured that Board decisions have been made openly, fairly, and with the public interest - not private or special interest - paramount. The Board should be subject to the same open meetings, freedom of information, public financial disclosure, and conflict of interest standards that apply to all other government bodies. The public has a right to be confident that a decision on a particular energy project is made for the benefit of the public - not for the interest of an energy company where one of the Board members was previously employed and eventually hopes to return. The job of the Energy Mobilization Board is so important that it should operate under the strictest accountability standards.

Will Congress strike the proper balance with the Energy Mobilization Board? If it does, it will ensure that energy projects, which our country needs to reduce our dependence on foreign oil, do not become victims of needless delays and red tape. At the same time it will not cripple essential environmental standards, or ignore the value of public participation in these decisions.

A Board which rides roughshod over federal, state, and local laws would not be in the public interest. A process to expedite decisions on critical projects would lead to a more rational, effective energy policy.

Parent objects to school sales activity for instructional materials

October 19, 1979

To the Editor:

Dear Sir:
This week, two of my children returned from school (North Bay Elementary) with printed requests for parental assistance in selling a company's products, attached to a corporation brochure.

I wish to express publicly my feelings on this subject.

Why is it necessary for school children to conduct sales for profits to purchase "instructional" materials as quoted in the note my children brought home?

Why aren't these items purchased with budgeted tax monies?

If sufficient funds aren't available for these "instructional materials" how is it that funds are available to finance a trip to California for the superintendent and another trip to Atlanta for two principals and one administrator as our Board of Trustees decided to do at their October 8, meeting with only one dissenting vote?

I cannot willingly, knowingly participate in a project that doesn't name a sponsor or responsible person.

These sheets are two among many that never seem to be signed. I would like to know: Who is the authorizing person?

As I recall from last year (my children were enrolled in January) and thus far this year, of the many notices, etc. my children brought to me from school, the only ones carrying signatures or naming responsible persons were those from actual teachers or the Parent-Teacher Organization of North Bay Elementary.

Also, I am decidedly opposed to, and resent the enticement (in my opinion) extended toward my children to participate in this project.

In particular, I refer to dollar bills being attached under some of the chairs in the cafeteria where the children were taken from class work for the purpose of information concerning this project.

Also, I disapprove of the mentioned drawings for cash prizes. I wonder if the drawing in particular and its conditions constitutes a lottery?

I do not think it is fair that teachers should have to give up classroom time to be spent on such matters. They are paid little enough for the great service they render, in my opinion. I for one deeply appreciate their efforts and abilities to educate my children.

Finally, since my husband is vice president of the North Bay PTO, I wish to inform your readers that if anyone has wrongly assumed so, this project is not sponsored by the PTO.

Sincerely,

Mrs. John F. Foy

Hancock residents get short-changed by Social Security

October 18, 1979

The Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

Since I have been serving in the capacity as Veterans Service Officer of Hancock County I have noted numerous occasions on which the people of Hancock County have not been treated justly or furnished good representation by the Social Security Administration.

It is my understanding that the Social Security Administration is supposed to help people who are eligible for and need Social Security.

Hancock County is rapidly growing and I feel that our people should have someone from the Social Security Administration serve them in this county more than for just two and one half hours per week.

As it is now, our people from Hancock County must either call, in most cases, or make a trip to the Gulfport office, which is nearly located in Biloxi.

My question is - Why can't we have a full time representative from the Social Security Administration here on a full time basis?

Sincerely,

Mike Ladner

Feels apology due former jailer Page and his wife

Oct. 19, 1979
Sea Coast Echo
To the Editor:

In regard to the statements made by those two prisoners, I find them to be filled with untruths and false statements.

Mrs. Page did cook three meals a day for those prisoners and she worked very hard.

It was not right for them to write those lies about her and her husband. The food she cooked was good, wholesome food. The prisoners should have been glad to have a good cook like Mrs. Page.

People who are put in jail don't really deserve any special privileges. By giving the prisoners such things as televisions, radios and other things they want, they are not really punishing the prisoners. They might as well take them to the Waveland Resort Inn.

Mrs. Page has never forgot to bring one meal to that jail.

Fried Chicken, potato salad, gumbos and many other wonderful foods were served, as well as banana pudding.

Now, does that sound like the prisoners are going hungry?

I would like to know if those prisoners are making those statements on their own or is someone encouraging them?

Mr. Page was a very loyal jailer.

Sometimes he would have to get up late at night to go up to the jail because the prisoners had flooded the jail.

I know of several times when Mr. Page and a deputy would take prisoners to the doctor.

I have gone with people a couple of times when they wanted to bring a TV to someone in jail, and they were told in the office it was not allowed.

Mr. and Mrs. Page deserve an apology.

Sincerely,

Mrs. Lena Nicolosi
Waveland

St. Martin blanks Rocks

Rock-A-Chaw Scott Senner (32) sweeps right as Allen Byrd (56) closes in. Linesman David Murtagh (73) prepares to fend off

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The St. Martin Yellow stung a flat St. Stanislaus 34-0 Friday night before an overflow of Yellow Jacket fans celebrating Homecoming.

Rock head coach Barry Jones said, "We played poorly, we had some problems today and were not ready for the game mentally."

St. Martin scored 21 points in the first quarter and coasted to the 34-0 victory giving them a 5-1 record for the season and tying them with d'Iberville for the Pascagoula River Conference lead.

The two are scheduled for a head to head battle for the championship at their regular last game of the season meeting later in the year.

Stanislaus record now stands at 3-3 vying with Bay High for the City of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County championship next Friday in Tiger stadium.

The Yellow Jackets scored after the kick off to the Rocks who were forced to punt on fourth down.

In three plays aided by a personal foul against SSC, the Yellow Jackets quarterback Keith Webb rambling in on a 12 yard run with 7:45 left in the first quarter and the point after by David Hardy giving them a 7-0 lead.

St. Martin kicked to the Rocks who returned to their 35 and on the second play from scrimmage fumbled and it was recovered on the SSC 35 by the Yellow Jacket's David Hardy.

Marc Mercer intercepted a pass on the Rocks 5 to stop the St. Martin drive and then Stanislaus fumbled two plays later and it was recovered by the Yellow Jacket's Kenny Glavan on the eight yard line.

St. Martin required one play to add another 6 points with 4:09 left in the first quarter and the PAT gave them a 14-0 lead over the Rocks.

After the second touchdown by St. Martin, Stanislaus was forced to punt after three plays left them with 4th down and 17.

The Yellow Jackets returned the punt to the Rocks' 39 and on their second play of the series St. Martin had an easy third TD and the extra point gave them a 21-0 lead with only 30 seconds left in the first stanza.

St. Martin tacklers

The statement by coach Jones about the Rocks not being mentally ready for the game showed in the missed tackles, sacks of the Rock quarterback, lack of first downs and complete domination by St. Martin in the first quarter.

Stanislaus did not register a first down until midway of the second quarter, then registered two plays losing yardage after a no gain play having to punt on fourth and 26.

A short punt by Scott Senner and a Yellow Jacket return to the Rocks 33 set up the fourth score of the game.

St. Martin's Scott Simer scored on a 10 yard run in the seventh play of the series making the score 27-0, after the PAT was wide with 1:23 remaining in the first half.

The St. Martin Yellow Jacket band performed at the half and also members of the 1979 Homecoming were introduced.

The third quarter showed the Rocks with a little defense as they stopped the Yellow Jackets on four plays after the kick-off.

The only scoring opportunity was in the third quarter when a long field goal was tried by Juan Betanzos but was low after a high snap to the holder.

St. Martin scored on a pass from Morris Hitt to Davis Ross with only 47 seconds showing on the clock in the third stanza. The PAT made it 34-0 for the last score of the game.

Late in the fourth quarter the Rocks threatened after a fumble recovery by Lee Klein on the Yellow Jackets 29. A first down moved them to the 15, the deepest penetration of the night by SSC.

Then advancing to the 14 to be pushed back, having to turn the ball over on the 22 three plays later.

St. Martin led in first downs 11-7, rush yardage 243-56, passing yardage 34-7, lost 2-2 fumbles against the Rocks 3-4, and punted one time for 25 yards while SSC punted 5-31 yard average.

Stanislaus' pass defense improved over last week allowing only three completions and intercepting one out of eight throws by the Yellow Jackets. The Rocks completed 5 of 8 with one intercepted, but most were thrown short and resulted in loss yardage.

Coach Jones complimented St. Martin by saying, "St. Martin has a good team, we have to give them credit for playing well."

"We have always contended that a football game is 80 percent mentally, and we were not ready to play the game," coach Jones added.

As he headed to the locker room coach Jones allowed, "We certainly didn't play to our capacity."

HNC 36-PRC 6

By RICH ADAMS
Sports Editor

The Hancock North Central Hawks rebounded in style from two straight losses and a week off as they completely dominated a Pearl River Central squad in Carrier during their homecoming, winning 36-6.

The Hawks played almost mistake-free ball as the well-balanced offense marched downfield four times to paydirt.

HNC Head Coach Irvin Favre said his team played a good game against the aggressive PRC squad.

"We played a good game. PRC was aggressive, but I knew they would be," Favre said following the game.

"We played a solid defense and had a fine punting game. (Quarterback Bobby) Devaughn played exceptionally well tonight," the HNC skipper continued.

"Pearl River is an equal, if not better, team than us. When they were threatening another score, our defense stiffened up," he added.

HNC scored on the opening series, after moving the ball to the 47 yard line in five plays.

Larry Peterson, Willy Santiago, and Lloyd Henry moved the ball 24 yards to pick up two first downs, and then Henry took a handoff from Devaughn up the middle to score with 9:18 remaining in the first stanza.

Keith Glass, replacing injured Byron Ladner in the kicking department, put the conversion between the uprights to make the score 7-0.

After two series which resulted in forced punts, the Blue Devils dropped into a double slot formation with Quarterback Bruce Penton in a shotgun position and pitched out to Cyrus Smith, who in turn threw a 23 yard pass to Eljije Benett.

The play drew comments from Favre to the officials, the head coach claiming factors of the razzle-dazzle play were illegal.

"First, it was what is called a pick play. A defensive man was blocked while the ball was in the air. Secondly, number 62, Eddie Mooney, was downfield on the pass, and a lineman cannot be downfield," Favre explained after the game.

Despite the gain, PRC was in a punting situation and attempted a fake punt.

Penton passed to Smith, but the aerial was low and HNC took possession on the 43.

Hancock was forced to punt at the end of the first stanza, but the boot was blocked and the second quarter began with the Blue Devils on their own 40 yard line.

After exchanging the ball twice, Hancock's Faron Hoda booted a punt to the PRC five yard line, where it came to rest and was downed.

PRC was hit with an offside penalty, and with the ball on the four yard line, Penton dropped the pigskin and Nelson Crosdale recovered it in the end zone for another HNC score with 6:30 remaining in the half.

Glass booted another conversion, which gave the Hawks a 14-0 lead.

Hancock scored again late in the half as Rene Baum picked off a Penton aerial and ran it to the PRC four yard line.

Santiago carried the ball the extra four yards to score with 2:13 left in the half.

On the conversion attempt PRC was hit with an offside infraction, setting up a Devaughn sweep into the end zone for a two-point conversion, making the score 22-0.

Hancock attempted an on side kick on the ensuing kick off, which the Blue Devils recovered on their own 49.

Two offside infractions by Hancock moved the ball into Hawk territory and gave PRC a first down.

Tommy Martin hit Don Tardy for a 15 yard gain, and then a pass interference call against the Hawks moved the ball 15 yards closer to paydirt.

Penton carried the ball in from the eight yard line, making the score 22-6.

The point after attempt by Penton was wide to the left, and the score remained 22-6 with 56 seconds remaining until half time.

PRC threatened to score in the third stanza as they moved to the six yard line, but a Penton to Tarter pass was picked off in the end zone by Henry to kill the drive.

HNC was unable to move the ball, and was again forced to punt.

On the second play from the line Penton dropped the ball deep in his own territory and Kelly Lumpkin hopped on the ball for the Hawks.

Following a six yard gain by Henry, Devaughn kept the ball to score from 19 yards out.

Glass' conversion was good, making the score 29-6.

PRC was moving toward paydirt again on the next series, but Lumpkin again hopped on a loose ball to give the Hawks a first down on the 26.

Henry ran for a 15 yard gain and first down, and then added three more. Unable to get into the end zone, Glass attempted a 25 yard field goal.

The kick was off to the left, and PRC took possession.

A costly PRC mistake again offered the Hawks a score as Santiago picked off a Penton pass on the 35 and ran it back to paydirt.

A conversion by Baum was good, and the Hawks led 36-6 with 7:35 left to play in the game.

The Hawk defense stiffened up against the Blue Devils as the PRC squad moved in to score, as they moved 68 yards to the HNC 21.

On a fourth and seven situation Penton passed to Bennett, but the pass was broken and Hancock took possession with slightly more than a minute to play.

Baum was put in as quarterback, and moved the ball slightly, but time ran out and the Hawks were back in the winning circle.

Hancock meets d'Iberville in a homecoming contest Friday night at 7:30 p.m. at Hawk Stadium.

Pearl River travels to Seminary next week to try and up their 1-5 record.

Pirates fumble to Devils, 38-18

By EDGAR PEREZ

Pass Christian's Pirates, again plagued by their most formidable enemy of the season—the fumble—lost possession eight times Friday against Harrison Central in Lyman, and lost the ball game as a result, 38-18.

Four Pass fumbles led directly to Red Devil scores.

An encouraging Pirate drive in the first quarter was quashed when Central picked off a Smokey Swannier pass.

The Pirates lost a second pass to interception at the Central 16 in the fourth quarter, ending another Pirate scoring threat.

Those two interceptions and six fumbles tarnished the Pirate hopes of a respectable showing against the Pascagoula River Conference leaders and one of the largest high schools in the state.

Statistically speaking, the Pirates were in the ball game all the way with 15 first downs to 13 for the Red Devils.

The Pirates' 218 yards gained rushing stacks up well against the Red Devils' 288.

Pirate back Gene Lagg is credited with 122 yards in 19 carries, compared to 173 yards in 11 tries by Central stalwart tailback Kent Jones who scored three times to brighten Harrison's homecoming.

A 66-yard completion from quarterback Smokey Swannier to split end Johnny Jones contributed to the Pirate total of 103 yards passing to only 67 for the Devils.

Jones left would-be tacklers in his smoke following that reception as he went fancy-dancing into the end zone with 30 seconds left in the first half.

A two-point pitch out attempt failed.

The Pirates played a clean game, incurring only a 40-yard total loss through six penalties, compared to some 64 yards lost by the Devils on eight calls.

Pass demonstrated its 'Big O' could move against the Devil defenses by posting their second score on an eight yard, fourth quarter run by Lang, climaxing a 65-yard drive.

Another tow-point attempt was no good.

The never-say-die spirit of the Pirates brought another entry on the scoreboard with only 19 seconds left in the game.

Smokey connected again, this time with Michael Hall for 23 yards following a 35-yard drive.

Ironically, the Pirates final score came as they capitalized on a Red Devil fumble by Junior Moffett at his own 35.

"Those fumbles keep killing us—I just don't know what to do about them," lamented Pirate head coach Bob Lumpkin Saturday.

"We have fumbled the ball 17 times in the last two ball games, losing 16 of them," he pointed out.

"We moved the ball well against Harrison Central, had a good offensive night, and were forced to punt only one time," the coach explained.

"They were not stopping our offense, but we kept giving them the ball, and when they've got the ball their offense can be very explosive," Lumpkin said in analyzing Friday's loss.

Lumpkin emphasized his squad's mistakes "hurt us badly."

"If we ever eliminate these fumbles, we will win," the coach is convinced.

"There is no way we can allow eight turnovers and win."

The Pirates' accurate toe of Reggie Hawthorne contributed eight points to the Red Devils' total of 38, five conversions and a 36-yard field goal in the third quarter set up by a Pirate fumble.

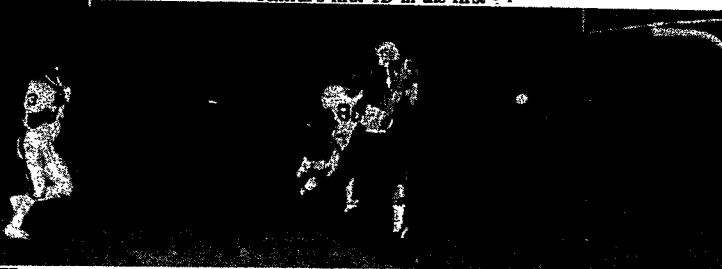

Devil Kent Jones scored the Central's first TD in the first quarter on setup from a Smokey Swannier fumble at the Pass 25.

Jones broke loose for a 75-yard run and the second Devil touchdown in the second quarter, followed by an 18-yard scoring reception by Jim Estrada after Gene Lang had his turn at the fumble.

A James Cannon fumble setup the Hawthorn field goal in the third quarter, followed by an errant pitch by Swannier which allowed Jones to break into paydirt on a 24-yard dash.

Devil Bennie Flemming closed out his team's scoring effort for the evening with a seven-yard run in the fourth quarter.

Harrison Central's Jim Estrada catches an end zone pass as Pirates James Cannon (33) and Dwight Dedeaux (80) move in.

Bulldogs shutout Tigers

By RANDY PONDER

The Vancleave Bulldogs, capitalizing on two kickoff recoveries, shutout the Bay High Tigers 26-0. The game, played in Vancleave, was the Tigers' third straight conference loss.

Vancleave received to start the game and was forced to punt.

Bay High took over on the Bulldog 37 but was unable to move the ball and Vancleave regained possession on downs.

On their next play, the Bulldogs fumbled. Van Faryard of the Tigers came up with the ball.

Again Joe Cabanias had to punt the ball away, as the Bulldog defense would not give up a first down.

Vancleave took the punt on their 21 to begin the first scoring drive of the game.

Quarterback Allen Williams ran to the Tiger 43. After an offside penalty against the Bulldogs, Mike Fountain pulled in a pass on the Bay High 32 for a first down.

Fountain caught his next pass on the 22 for another first down.

A clipping penalty moved the ball back to the 37, but tailback Doc Reddix caught a pass on the Tiger 5 to set up first and goal for Vancleave.

Several plays later, QB Allen Williams took the ball in for the score from the one foot line.

The point after attempt was mishandled and with 51 seconds remaining in the first quarter, Vancleave took the lead 6-0.

The ensuing kick was fumbled by the Tigers and recovered by Vancleave on the Tiger 40.

The Bulldogs moved to the 14 before a personal foul moved the ball back to the 29. Here the Bay High team turned in two good defensive plays to stop the Bulldogs.

On third and 24, Stephen Hargett almost intercepted a pass to force fourth and 24.

On the next play, Huewit Parsons broke thru interference to stop a screen pass.

Vancleave with the football on the Tiger 47, marched into the end zone in nine plays to add to their lead. A pass attempt for two points was no good and the half ended with the score Vancleave 12, Bay High 0.

Bay High received to start the second half, couldn't move and were forced to punt.

Vancleave moved the ball to the Tiger 21 where they turned it over on downs.

Here the Tigers managed to lose nine yards on 3 plays.

Joe Cabanias got the team out of a hole with a 63 yard punt from the goal line.

Facing second and 25 yards to go from his own 25, Bulldog Quarterback Allen Williams passed to Mark Warren who ran 74 yards for a touchdown.

The point after was good to give Vancleave a 19-0 lead with 3:52 left in the third quarter.

On the following kick, the Tigers allowed the ball to roll dead on their ten yard line.

The ball was pounced upon by a Vancleave player, giving them possession.

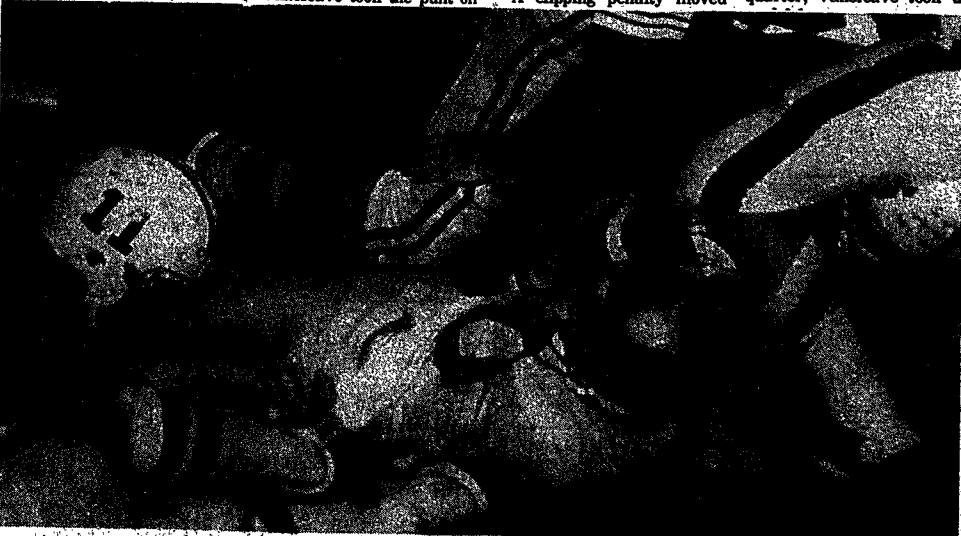

It took only two plays for the Bulldogs to score. The point was good and in less than one minute Vancleave had put 14 points on the board.

Neither team moved the ball well for the rest of the game and at the final buzzer Vancleave left the field with a 26-0 win.

"We just did not play as well as we could have," commented Coach James (Snuffy) Smith.

"It seemed like everything Vancleave tried, worked. We couldn't stop their bread and butter plays," added Smith. Many Tiger fans complained about the referees' handling of the game, but Coach Smith said, "I have not seen the game films yet, but I feel this may have been the best 'called' game we have played this year."

Next week the Tigers (2-4) entertain cross town rivals St. Stanislaus (3-3) for the city and county championship.

St. Monica's Sale Mecca for bargain hunters

BY JOE PILET
All the world loves a bargain. And all along the Mississippi Gulf Coast at about this time of year a sort of bargain fever rages.
It's contagious.
Symptoms begin when bargain hunters receive word of the time and place of the traditional annual rummage sale sponsored by the St. Monica Guild of the Women of Trinity Episcopal Church in Pass Christian.
The word is out! Mrs. Frederick Kohl, serving as overall chairman of the event, has announced the Rummage Sale will be held Friday, Nov. 2, beginning at noon and lasting until 4:30 p.m.; then continuing the following day, Nov. 3 at 9 a.m. and ending at noon.
This traditional rummage sale attributes its success to several factors. To begin with profits, from the sales are earmarked for both church, community and charity related projects.

Then, too, all articles for sale are priced very modestly and are of good quality.
Many items are new—contributed by such prestigious establishments as D.H. Holmes, Gayfer's, Godchaux, etc.
Used articles donated by well-wishers are "quality" and displayed with pride.
Then, too, there is "something for everybody." Bric-a-brac, potted plants, white elephants, clothing for men, women, and children, household items, furniture, appliances, dishes, glass ware, small appliances, curtains, blankets, towels, sheets—you name it.
All articles not sold are given to the Salvation Army.

Gleaned from St. Monica's records are some of the accomplishments made possible through profits from both rummage sales and the group's traditional Valentine's tea.
Children living in the Protestant Orphanage in Natchez were sponsored, remembered with gifts on their birthdays and at Christmas time and sent to church camp.
Two young ladies were helped toward a career. One attended a beauty college, the other was a business school graduate.
The Christ Episcopal High School received both money and equipment for its science department.
New cushions were provided for church pews, Trinity's kitchen was completely furnished. Community projects were included in the budget.

"One man's trash becomes another's treasure," a trite and true expression noticeably applicable among patrons of St. Monica's rummage sale.
Ladies frequently are seen attending church and social functions proudly wearing outfits that they had purchased which were donated to the rummage sale by their neighbors and friends.
St. Monica, the oldest of the three guilds that make up Women of Trinity, had its beginning in the early 1850's as "The Aid and Sewing Circle."
This group organized to raise building funds. Trinity Church was built in 1848-49. As the church membership grew the sewing circle split into a "day" guild and a "night" guild.

The late Dr. Willis Gaylor Clark, rector of the church in 1948, was instrumental in re-naming the guilds.
St. Monica is remembered chiefly as the mother of St. Augustine.
Currently, St. Monica's Guild has approximately 35 active members and a few more on an inactive roll.
All active members are to be involved in the Nov. 2 and 3 sale.
A bee hive of activity begins on Thursday prior to the sale when the women armed with measuring tapes, marking pencils, tags, bags and boxes pins converge on Trinity's Parish House, dressed in "work clothes" and brown-bagging their lunch.
These ladies will set up display tables and racks, measure, and mark clothing and items to be sold and return the following morning to complete the tremendous job of sorting and pricing until the sale begins at Friday noon.

It is not a dull job. The group works and laughter rings through the room as a bewildered volunteer holds up a "what'sit" for identification or bravely models some garment of uncommon size.
Some of the key persons who will head committees this year are Mrs. Theo Moore, who will oversee the pre-sale sorting, inspecting and marking of garments and articles; Mrs. J.G. McCloskey who will do the pricing; Mmes. Stanford Morse Sr. and Ducros Stouse who with their assistants, Mmes. Herman deVries and A.M. Dantzer will serve as cashiers; Mrs. Rosemond Wallace heading a committee for sale of potted plants and bric-a-brac-white elephants; Mrs. Marvin Mingledorff for children's wear; Mrs. John E. Murphy assisting in men's wear and also supplying announcement posters; Mrs. Harrington Hilzirn, door prizes—a prize to be given each hour of the sale; and yours truly heading the household goods department.

Every active member will don an identification name tag and become a sales person for the day.
For days prior to the Rummage Sale the entire community becomes involved. Merchants save boxes. Business places allow posters to be placed prominently. Banks get in on the act. Paper bags, hangers, display racks are given or put on loan.
The Salvation Army is alerted to stand "at ready" with their crew and trucks to cart away all unsold merchandise—and quickly!

They must move rapidly. The Parish House must be clean and spotless for on Sunday it becomes Sunday School Class rooms with all partitions separating the several grades in place.
The sale has ended. Customers have gone home lugging a lot of loot. Sales personnel will soak tired feet and rub aching muscles.
Someone will report on how much the sales brought in—everyone will smile agreement: "It was well worth the effort. So many people have been helped in their inflation fight, there's welcomed storage space now in many closets, and let me tell you about the bargains I found."

THE LORD HAS EVERY RIGHT to expect "our best" in His service!

We should never be satisfied with offering anything less. Paul declared in His letter to the Romans: "So, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the gospel..." (Rom. 1:15).

He seemed to be saying: "My Lord gave His all for me; I want to give my all to Him!" Someone has said: "Anything worth doing is worth doing well." This is a simple, powerful and challenging truth. A work that is really worthwhile, as the work of the Lord is, is worthy of more than a half-hearted effort. If a man doesn't think enough of what he is doing to do it well; either it is not worth doing or he is not worthy of doing it.

In spite of the urgency and importance of the propagation of the Gospel, some professed Christians content themselves with permitting this work of the Lord to be done in a haphazard manner.

As a matter of fact, some just don't seem to care if it is done at all. How sad! This sort of following the "line of least resistance" represents an unchristian attitude, a hindrance to the cause of Christ, and tragic to the spiritual welfare of those who may be its victims.

Paul was motivated by a burning desire to bring his people, though zealously religious already, to a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ. "Brethren, my heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved" (Rom. 10:1-3).

He encouraged the Corinthian Christians: "Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord..." (I Cor. 15:58). And "Let all things be done unto edifying (I Cor. 14:26). We can abound and edify (build up) in the Lord's work only in the measure in which we faithfully and diligently discharge our duties to God in devoted service.

This world needs men and women who care. Christians who possess opinions and a will. Christians who have courage and conviction.

There's an Answer!

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

Give in or go ahead?

Q. I have been friends with a nice lady for over 25 years. Every year she and I plan to take a week's vacation and go some place interesting. Well, my husband has turned my friendship with her into something corrupt. He wants to know which of us is the "man." He flew into the most terrible cursing rage you have ever heard of when I mentioned going to the State Fair with her. Do I give in to his corrupt thinking or do I go ahead and plan my trip? I am innocent of these charges.

A. We suggest that you quietly remind him that you are an honorable, pure-minded, decent woman and that there is no unnatural relationship with your friend. Tell him that your desire to go to the State Fair with this lady is entirely innocent. Remind him that women like to have women friends and be with them even as men like to have men friends with no women around.

Go ahead calmly and make your vacation plans, asking his understanding.

Nobody Understands
Q. I am 15 years old and am in love with a man who is very much older than me. I've known him for 2 years and we already discussed our future together. We thought of the possibility that it won't work, but I can't forget him. I must go against my parents just to talk to him. I don't want to hurt my parents but I won't leave him. What can I do?

A. You are making a serious mistake to insist, at 15 years of age, that you feeling is lifetime love. As strange as it may seem, you could be enamored of a father figure. You will be wise to be guided by your parents until you mature a bit more. You are missing one of the greatest experiences in not having friends in your own age bracket.

Nation's Fuel Bill Could Be Cut in Half Without Seriously Affecting Living Standard

Although America has an energy problem that isn't going to go away, there are certain steps that can be taken to greatly lessen that problem according to a leading energy expert, who has this hopeful message: The nation's fuel bill can be cut in half by exploiting the most readily available form of energy—"conservation energy." Furthermore, as conservation techniques are refined, it appears that estimates of possible savings increase.

That's the word from E. Milton Bevington, president of Servidyne, Inc., a leading Atlanta-based energy management service. "Not more than five percent of the companies in the U.S. have a true energy management program in place," says Bevington. "The saving of energy has never been given top priority. The irony is that while oil prices go up and we cast around for alternatives, the most readily available and cheapest alternative is what I call 'conservation energy.' We now have ways to help companies realize immediate energy savings, without big initial outlays for expensive control devices."

Bevington points to Sweden and West Germany as examples of two countries with standards of living roughly equivalent to that of the United States, but where per capita consumption of energy is only one-half American. "When you look at that comparison, you can see that there's plenty of slack for us to take up here without giving up much of the good life and without going back to the caves. The simple fact is that we

E. Milton Bevington

Americans are wasting energy needlessly," says Bevington. "Most of the resistance by companies to initiating energy management programs that work is because top management is not getting involved, according to Bevington. "The tendency in lots of organizations is to buck the problem down to a lower level and say you've solved it. The trouble with that is that everybody knows it's not a serious undertaking. Energy management needs the clout that can only be provided by the chief executive officer."

Energy management is still a relatively new discipline, says Bevington, and techniques are constantly being refined. The experience of his own company shows that what were once thought to be ideal energy consumption estimates for a facility have been shown to be too high. "Like the four minute mile, seeming limits to conservation continue to fade. The Roger Bannisters at 3:59.4 on the energy front yield to the John Walkers at 3:49.4, indicating increasing possibilities for energy conservation, even beyond those we have seen."

D.B. Thompson, district overseer and Watchtower Bible and Tract Society representative, will deliver a lecture entitled "Whose Disciple Are You?"

How much you remember tells how long you've been around

A BIG TIME ON TWO BITS

Sixty-five to seventy years ago a boy could go to town and have a big time with 25 but we did not call it 25 cents, we called it two bits.

He could get a bottle of soda pop for a nickel, a serving of ice cream for a nickel, a hamburger for a dime, and eight 8-inch sticks of lemon or peppermint candy for a nickel.

Happiness for a boy back then was two bits to spend.

You are getting old if you remember when you could buy a lunch in a restaurant for only a quarter, or, if funds were short, you could get enough crackers and cheese to make a fair meal for only a dime.

You are already old if you can remember when your shirt collar was not on the shirt as is the case today but was attached by collar buttons, one in front and one in back.

You are getting old if you remember when you had a washer woman to launder your shirt, but sent the collar through a local agent to a laundry in another town.

More than 60 years ago men wore button shoes and carried a buttoner around with them in their pockets.

They could not put on their shoes without a buttoner. I wore button shoes for a time and carried in my pocket a wrench like gadget called a buttoner.

You are old if you remember when a school boy bought a penny pencil and a nickel tablet.

You are old if you remember reading in the daily papers about Ty Cobb and keeping up with his batting average and the number of his stolen bases. Ty Cobb was among the very greatest, if not the greatest, baseball player who ever lived.

I worked in Warren, Ohio in the summer of 1914. Warren is about half way between Cleveland, Ohio and Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. It was about an hour's ride on a Pennsylvania railway train from Warren to each of these big cities.

On weekends I went to each of these places several times, to Pittsburgh to see the National league games, to Cleveland to see the American league games. After I saw Ty Cobb play one game, I went to Cleveland to see him play every time the Detroit Tigers-Cobb's team-played there.

He played hard, he never let up, he played every game to win. When he came to bat all eyes were intensely focused on him, and the opposing players were more alert. He was spectacular in every game. I've never seen any other athlete so completely dominate the attention of the spectators.

A team I liked to see play was the New York Giants. McGraw was the manager. He too, played every game to win. I remember best the great Indian Catcher of the Giants, Chief Myers.

You are middle aged or past that mark if you remember the Great Showman. Babe Ruth, or Walter Johnson, the great Washington pitcher. You are real old if you remember reading of the exploits of Jim Thorpe the great Indian football player, recognized as one of the greatest in the history of football.

You are already old if you remember the first automobiles, if you remember what a task it was to change tires, if you remember having to get out of the car with two or three others when the car was stuck in a mudhole and of having to push it out while getting your Sunday suit spattered with mud.

You are close to old age if you remember the 2 cents stamps and the penny postcards. You are already old if you remember the Ingersoll dollar watch. The first watch I ever owned was an Ingersoll dollar watch that cost just $1. It was a good one, kept good time for several years. Based on present day inflationary prices, it, today, would surely cost anywhere from $5 on up.

You must be up close to 80 if you remember sassafras tea, an herbal drink with a pleasant taste that was good for your health. It was widely used when I can first remember. There has not been much sassafras tea since the great freeze of February, 1900 when most of the sassafras trees were frozen and killed.

You are past middle age and approaching age if you remember when everyone used kerosene lamps. We had to go to the store with our kerosene cans and get this oil to light our lamps that illuminated our homes, business places, churches, etc. back when I was growing up.

If you remember when feather beds were in general use, you are old-not just approaching old age, I remember when a feather bed was more highly prized than an innerspring mattress is today. A feather mattress was a favorite gift of mothers to daughters who were getting married.

You are old if you remember getting a 25 cents hair cut. My mother cut my hair until I was 14 years old. The reason I remember the time so well is that my father sold his farm in 1904 and moved to town when I was 14 years old. After we moved to town I went to the barber shop and got a 25 cents haircut.

You are old if you remember when Brown Mule tobacco was advertised on just about every farmer's barn who lived on a well travelled road. And snuff for women was advertised about as much. Many women of that time used snuff.

You are real old-70 on up if you remember when most men wore beards or mustaches. Whether true or not, I do not know, but looking back it seems to me that all the unmarried young fellows went clean shaven, when a fellow got married he grew a mustache, and then years later as grandchildren began to come along, he graduated into a beard.

That, at least, was pretty well true out in the rural area where I grew up.

You are old if you remember when railroads were being built instead of being abandoned as they are today. I remember when the MJ and KC railroad was built through Mississippi from Mobile, AL, to Jackson, TN and when passenger trains first started running in 1904.

Many people along this new line had never seen a train. They had lived all their lives in rural areas too far away from any railway towns to conveniently visit them.

When the railroad was completed, it was announced well in advance that the first passenger trains would run on a certain day and arrive at different stations at particular times. Great crowds went to the depots along the new line to see the first train come through. This great event at many places happened on a rainy day. An old story was told in later years as having happened at just about every place where the train stopped. As the old tale goes, when the train arrived there were many umbrellas up to protect the people from the rain.

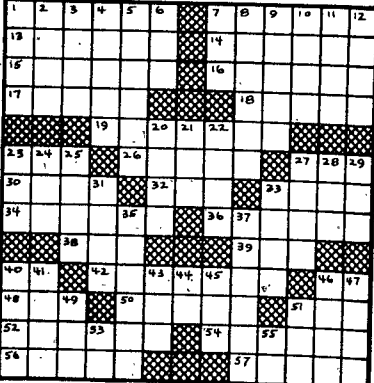

When the train was ready to depart, the engineer would shout, "I can't get the train started with all those umbrellas up, please let them down." As the story goes, every umbrella was closed, leaving the people standing there in the rain.

Another old story also generally told at the same time was that when the whistle on this first train blew the signal for departure, one fellow broke and ran. When asked the next day why he ran, he reported to have said, "Why if that thing had started off sideways everybody there would have been killed."
